Local presenters presented with support from the Superstition Review. Co-presented with the University of Arizona Poetry Center.

March 4 and 5 – Devour Culinary Classic*****

11:30 pm – 3 pm | Dorrance Sculpture Garden | SOLD OUT EVENT

The Devour Culinary Classic, formerly known as the Devoured Culinary Classic, is the region's premier annual culinary celebration. Devour showcases Arizona's celebrity culinary community and its fine food and drink producers and purveyors, while furthering metro Phoenix as a dining destination worthy of international prestige. Phoenix Art Museum remains open to the public throughout the duration of the event, however parking may be limited. Free overflow parking is available across the street from Phoenix Art Museum at Central Arts Plaza, on the southwest corner of Central Avenue and Palm Lane. See an online map here: <http://bit.ly/PhxArtOverflowParking>.

March 8 – Arizona Costume Institute 2nd Wednesday Luncheon: Phoenix Fashion Industry****

11:30 am (lunch) and 12:30 pm (lecture) | Whiteman Hall

Join Margaret Merritt, principal of Margaret Merritt Productions, Kelly Mittendorf, Arizona-born model, and Terri Camberlango, director of The Agency Arizona, in a conversation about their journey working in the fashion industry. The luncheon is $33 for non-Members and $30 for Members. Lecture is free for Museum Members and included with general admission. See more details and ticket information here: <http://bit.ly/ACI0317>

March 11 and 12 – Discount Tire Free Family Weekend: Heroes

10 am – 5 pm and noon – 5 pm | Museum-wide

Through the generosity of Discount Tire Company, the Museum offers free general admission on the second weekend of each month, with hands-on art activities, live performances, music and more. March's theme is heroes. See more information on each day's activities here: <http://bit.ly/HeroesDTFFW>

March 12 – Closing day of *Horacio Zabala: Mapping the Monochrome

Noon – 5pm | Harnett Gallery

Don't miss the last opportunity to see Horacio Zabala: Mapping the Monochrome on Discount Tire Free Family Weekend. Featuring maps, monochromes, and sculptures, Mapping the Monochrome presents a historical and contemporary cross-section of art works by one of Argentina's most important 20th-century conceptual artists. <http://bit.ly/ZabalaPhx>

March 17 – Opening day of *Yeohlee | Serra****

10 am – 5 pm | Ellman Fashion Design Gallery

Pairing a series of gowns created in the mid-1990s by fashion designer Yeohlee Teng with the oil stick screen prints by artist Richard Serra, this exhibition highlights the connections shared between two artists at an intersection of art and fashion. <http://bit.ly/YeohleeSerra>

March 19 – The Propeller Group Film Series: *The Killing Fields****

2 pm | Whiteman Hall

New York Times reporter Sydney Schanberg (Sam Waterston) is on assignment covering the Cambodian Civil War, with the help of local interpreter Dith Pran (Haing S. Ngor) and American photojournalist Al Rockoff (John Malkovich). When Schanberg makes exit arrangements for Pran and his family, Pran, tells Schanberg he intends to stay in Cambodia to help cover the unfolding story -- a decision he may come to regret. Reserve your ticket at <http://tickets.phxart.org>.

March 22 – Yayoi Kusama birthday event

TIME TBD | LOCATION TBD

Yayoi Kusama celebration – details to come.

March 22 – Make It! Visual Circuits

3:30 pm – 7:30 pm | Cummings Great Hall

In conjunction with the Yayoi Kusama birthday celebration, join intermedia artist David Guerrero in creative experiments with simple circuits, inspired by Kusama's ever-popular LED light installation, You Who are Getting Obliterated in the Dancing Swarm of Fireflies (2005). Create your own Firefly Room-inspired composition with LED lights, copper tape, a coin battery, paper and colored pencils. This event is part of #freeafterthree Wednesday, when Phoenix Art Museum offers free general admission from 3 pm – 9 pm.

March 24 – Luncheon of Champions

11:30 am | Whiteman Hall & Great Hall

Phoenix Art Museum will present the fourth-annual Luncheon of Champions on March 24, 2017, at 11:30 am, featuring a candid conversation between legendary sports-journalist Mike Wilbon, host of ESPN's Pardon the Interruption, and Theo Epstein, president of baseball operations for the 2016 World Series Champion Chicago Cubs.
