

Visitors may take photographs in the Museum for their personal enjoyment. However, certain restrictions apply.

To protect the objects being photographed and the copyright privileges of their creators and/or owners, below are restrictions on taking photography in the Museum:

- Still photography of the permanent collection, taken in existing light and without flash, is permitted on the condition that the photographs are solely for personal, non-commercial use.
- Flashes and tripods, as well as movie and video cameras, are prohibited.
- Photographs may not be published, sold, reproduced, transferred, distributed or otherwise commercially exploited in any manner whatsoever.
- Works on loan to the Museum or in special exhibitions may not be photographed. Works on loan located outside of special exhibition galleries will be indicated by the following symbol on the artwork's plaque:

Photographs may not be published, sold, reproduced, transferred, distributed or otherwise commercially exploited in any manner whatsoever. The Museum reserves the right, at its sole discretion, to withhold and/or withdraw permission to photograph on its premises or to reproduce photographs of objects in its collection.

If you are interested in obtaining a publication-quality photograph of an object in our collection, either for publication or study purposes, please contact the Museum's Registration Department by e-mailing info@phxart.org.

Members of the press should contact the Museum's Public Relation Manager at (602) 257-2105 for their photography needs.
